

Episode 103

"The Ghost Next Door"

Written by Taylor Castro

Based on

"The Haunting of Dylan Klaypool: Whispers in Black Willow"

by James A. Ross

EXT. BLACK WILLOW ROADS - NIGHT

Midnight FOG settles above the barren roads of Black Willow, almost covering the town SIGN. Headlights pierce the dark.

DRIVER (O.S.)
Cold sure does come in quick around here, huh?

INT. UBER - NIGHT

The DRIVER looks wearily to her rearview mirror. MITCH VERLICE is eying the road in a drunken pessimism.

MITCH
Yeah.

DRIVER
October though. Everything'll still be orange once the sun's back. You know, Kid? Eh... you know.

She isn't convinced he knows.

EXT. VERLICE RESIDENCE - NIGHT

The car pulls into Mitch's driveway. He stumbles out of it, bidding the driver ado. He catches a glimpse of ABIEZER MERRERO reading in the living room and goes around the back.

INT. MITCH'S BEDROOM - NIGHT

Mitch stumbles in through the window, falling over himself.

MITCH
(singing)
Break my knees / sink your teeth /
Bloody Carrie, she's so-

He goes quiet upon a realization, rolling his head to the right. To the BOX OF CARRIE'S THINGS.

EXT. MARRY'S BATH - NIGHT

Mitch, carrying the BOX of Carrie's things with GUITAR on his back, walks up to Mary's Bath. Hell House hovers in gloom.

He pulls out her copy of Dracula from the box and hurls it into the lake. The book hits the surface with a muted splash.

Mitch's expression shifts, panic seeping in. He kicks off his shoes and takes off his guitar, diving into the water.

INT. MARY'S BATH - NIGHT

Mitch thrashes in the freezing water, clawing for the book.

IMAGES COLLIDE:

Dylan searches the same waters, her voice raw.

DYLAN

Mitch!

DOROTHY GOOD jumps into the shallows, reaching for the disassociated figure of SARAH GOOD.

DOROTHY

Mother!

Sarah walks further, her form dissolving like ink, as Dorothy gasps for breath between paddles. TITUBA bursts through the water, gripping onto Dorothy.

EXT. MARY'S BATH - DAY (1692)

ABIGAIL WILLIAMS and BETTY PARRIS watch as Tituba pulls Dorothy to safety, then dives back in to save Sarah.

BETTY
What caused such an affliction, Abigail? That Sarah should be so detached from our words? Abigail!

Tituba pulls Sarah out of the water as Abigail leans into Betty, whispering.

ABIGAIL
Witchcraft.

It echoes, distorted and sinister.

EXT. MARY'S BATH - DAY

Dylan coughs up the water in her lungs, gasping for breath.
A CROWD surrounds her, led by her mother JILL RODRIQUEZ and her step father MIGUEL RODRIGUEZ.

JILL
Dylan!

DYLAN
Mitch.

JILL
Oh, Honey. So far all they've found in there is a book. Dracula.

An old, odd MAN in the crowd chimes in.

MAN
Them got some strange fishes in there. Monstrous things. Don't y'all 'member 2006?

JILL
Would you please not be ridiculous?

MIGUEL
(whispered)
I have heard a couple crocodile
(MORE)

MIGUEL (CONT'D)
reports in the past few years.

Dylan spots a silhouette in the same window of Hell House as before. She goes towards it.

JILL
Dylan! Dylan, where are you going?!

DYLAN
Mom. Please.

Jill softens. She nods. Dylan runs towards Hell House.

Watching Dylan fade from view, Jill analyzes the dilapidated mansion. She tilts her head in consideration and then dials a number.

INT. GARDNER RESIDENCE, KITCHEN - DAY

The sounds of breakfast. HARLOW GARDNER (19, the most badass girl in Black Willow) is in the kitchen.

HARLOW
Dakota!!!! Breakfast!!!!

INT. GARDNER RESIDENCE, DAKOTA'S ROOM - DAY

DAKOTA GARDNER and SAWYER HALL shoot up in bed. They look at each other in terror.

DAKOTA
We will never speak of this. All right, Buddy?

SAWYER
All right, Pal.

They're both on the edge of laughter.

SAWYER
Wait! What time is it?

DAKOTA
Uhh. 10:45AM.

SAWYER
Shit! I wanted to audition. For Mitch's band.

DAKOTA
When's the audition?

SAWYER
11AM. I'll never make it in time. I skated here and it's like twenty minutes away.

Dakota thinks. She lights up and looks at him.

DAKOTA
Harlow!!!!

EXT. GARDNER RESIDENCE, FRONT PORCH - DAY

The front door opens before Sawyer, Harlow, and Dakota, revealing a 1970s style hippy VAN.

SAWYER
Oh. Wow.

HARLOW
Hop in.

DAKOTA
(to Sawyer)
Kill it.

They zoom off.

EXT. HELL HOUSE - DAY

The front door opens before Dylan even knocks. A faint melody drifts from inside. She clutches her necklace, straining to hear. Mitch's LAUGH echos through her head. Dylan steps inside.

INT. HELL HOUSE, FOYER - DAY

The melody grows louder, unmistakable now, guiding her to the living room.

DYLAN
Mitch?

The melody stops abruptly, alerting her.

INT. HELL HOUSE, LIVING ROOM - DAY

Dylan thrusts open the door, revealing Mitch. He's sitting on a couch, clutching his guitar. She charges, hugging him.

DYLAN
Are you insane? Never do that again! Do you know how worried everyone is?

MITCH
What?

Dylan shows him the crowd that's formed around his shoes.

MITCH
Oh shit.

He almost laughs, then turns to Dylan. She's never looked at him like this.

MITCH
You really hurt me last night.

He sits on the couch. Dylan joins him.

DYLAN
You're a peanut pumpkin. I get it now. You have so much sweetness that it turns into a shell that's hard and ugly.

MITCH
Is this supposed to be an apology?

Dylan shrugs, eyes soft.

MITCH
...Deer. You'd be a deer.

Dylan smiles.

MITCH
I'm sorry for embarrassing you.

DYLAN
You don't embarrass me. I was just anxious at the party.

MITCH
Oh yes! Your phone call. That's right. What happened?

The fear in Dylan returns. She hears an eerie noise.

DYLAN
What is that?

MITCH
The spirit box!

Mitch pulls out a SPIRIT BOX, excited. He points it around.

MITCH
Shit! Dylan! You did it! You're in
(MORE)

MITCH (CONT'D)
Hell House.

He laughs wildly, proud of her.

DYLAN
Mitch we need to leave. You have... band auditions. Everyone's waiting.

MITCH
What? Veda can handle that.

Dylan catches sight of a mirror, transfixed by it.

DYLAN
Mitch... MITCH.

Dylan points to the mirror. A shadowy figure fades into it's reflection as the spirit box goes crazy.

MITCH
Shit!

He chucks the spirit box, shattering the mirror.

DYLAN
We have to go!

Mitch doesn't budge, shocked.

DYLAN
Now!

She bolts. Mitch grabs his guitar, flying out after her.

EXT. HELL HOUSE - DAY

The group by Mary's Bath is on their way towards Hell House when Dylan and Mitch burst out of it, gasping for breath.
Mitch, elated, laughs like a lunatic.

MITCH
You! Are you OK?

She nods, I guess so. He PICKS Dylan up, SPINNING her around.

MITCH
You little ghost magnet you!

Mitch KISSES HER ON THE MOUTH like it's nothing. From Dylan's point of view, everything SLOWS and SWIRLS in on her.

MITCH
Meet me at your place. I'll grab the tools!

The crowd charges Mitch, but he breaks through their prying.

MITCH
Aye! I'm alive! Sorry for the scare. Gotta bounce though! HA! We're gonna change the fucking world.

He keeps running. Dylan's hand hovers over her lips.

DYLAN ...Bet.

TITLE CARD: EPISODE 3, THE GHOST NEXT DOOR.

INT. VERLICE RESIDENCE, GARAGE - DAY

The garage buzzes with worried MUSICIANS. Veda is pacing as Mitch rushes in, thoughtless to everyone.

VEDA
WHAT THE ACTUAL FUCK.

He heads straight towards the ghost hunting equipment.

MITCH
Can't talk. Cracking the ether.

VEDA
What?

MITCH
Making friends with a GHOST.
Helloo.

VEDA
And the band?

MITCH
You pick. Look at these guys.
They're stunning. What a pull.

They are not stunning, nor what a pull.

VEDA
They all suck.

She cocks her neck at their offended faces. The musicians pack up. Mitch raises his eyebrows: yikes. Just then, Harlow's van rolls to a stop and Sawyer jumps out. Everyone looks at him for half a second and then forgets all about it.

VEDA (CONT'D)
So that's it? Screw the band then?

MITCH
(to Veda)
I'll find someone.

SAWYER
Am I late?

MUSICIAN
It's a shit show in here, Man. I'd just dip if I were you.

Harlow steps forward. She plugs in a guitar, hands it to him.

HARLOW
Fuck em up, Little Guy.

Sawyer nods, uncomfortable but encouraged.

He PLAYS, filling the whole place with an electric energy. Mitch finally TURNS around out of complete awe.

Sawyer's final chord vibrates through the silence.

MITCH
(to Veda)
We good?

VEDA
Just make him look less annoying.

INT. KLAYPOOL RESIDENCE, DYLAN'S BEDROOM - DAY

Dylan lays in bed, staring at the ceiling. She pulls out her phone for social media. A TAROT READER pops up on her screen.

TAROT READER
Ooooooh, girl! I don't know who you be thinking about, but you know you be lying to yourself about it
HAHAH-

Dylan shuts off the phone, resumes staring at the ceiling.

INT. KLAYPOOL RESIDENCE, LIVING ROOM - DAY

Dylan reads in the living room while Jill works. The portrait of a mother and daughter bonded by both indifference and obsession. Dylan reaches for a BOWL of Halloween candy.

JILL
Eh! Not before dinner.

Dylan begrudgingly obeys. They return to silence.

JILL
Mitch all right?

DYLAN
What?

JILL
I asked if Mitch is OK. Some kiss
he gave you.

Dylan's eyes bulge. Jill gets a call.

JILL
Hello? Oh, yes! Ronald. Hi, there.
I'm so happy to hear back from you.

Dylan mouths, "we're just friends," to Jill, who responds with a lifted finger: hold on I'm busy.

JILL
Yes. It's a live podcast, live audience of professionals in the field. No randoms off the street, no. Not in this town.

Dylan gives Jill a look.

JILL
Yeah! It's on the existence, or rather lack thereof, paranormal activity.

Dylan's attention increases.

JILL
Well, yeah. It is a flawless location if you don't mind my
(MORE)

JILL (CONT'D)
saying. Very fun for the season.

The doorbell rings. As Dylan gets up to answer it, Jill mouths, "ask him to dinner." Dylan mouths back "no!"

JILL
Yes! Let's talk dates.

INT. KLAYPOOL RESIDENCE, FRONT DOOR - DAY

Dylan opens the front door to find Mitch with a bag of ghost hunting equipment and Dylan's TEST in his hand.

DYLAN
Mitch. Um. Hello. Please. Come in.

As he enters, Dylan steals a glance of herself in a mirror.

INT. KLAYPOOL RESIDENCE, KITCHEN - DAY

Mitch sits at the dining table, grading Dylan's test while she watches from the floor. Unnoticed, Dylan observes the details of his image down to the pulse of his neck. She watches his fingers tap.

MITCH
Dylan? You got a 100%!

She snaps out of it.

DYLAN
What? Oh! Yay!

MITCH
Which means we can go back to Hell House.

Dylan shrinks into herself.

MITCH
Hey. Hey. How dare you think?

She looks at him, frowning.

MITCH
You know where I got that from? A Little Princess.

DYLAN
I love A Little Princess.

MITCH
I know you do. Now, come on. Here.
Have a baguette.

Gawking at Mitch, Dylan takes the baguette.

DYLAN
Thank you-

She bites the baguette and spits it out.

DYLAN
Eck! How old is this?

Mitch grabs the letter from Ronald Hodge and reads it.

MITCH
Detective Miguel Rodriguez, I can't thank you enough for your property recommendation on that house next door to yours...

Mitch looks at Dylan. She snatches the card, reading.

DYLAN
It's a spooky place all right, but would feel more like home with the right gutting and renovation.

EXT. HELL HOUSE - DAY

Jill walks up to Hell House.

DYLAN (V.O.)

At least that's what the new Mrs says. She's looking forward to breaking walls by mid November and being neighbors. Says our daughters get along.

Jill knocks on the front door.

DYLAN (V.O.)

Anyway, thought you'd like to share in the celebration. We closed yesterday.

RONALD HODGE (60s) and CHARLOTTE HODGE (30s) open the door.

HODGE

Howdy!

Spoken simultaneously with:

CHARLOTTE

Howdy!

CHARLOTTE

Thank you so much for the rec. Really. Awful to hear what happened this morning though. We've got this going up right away.

She dangles a massive LOCK by her pointer finger.

JILL

I'm glad to hear it. And we're good to go on hosting my podcast here?

HODGE

Set up anywhere you'd like.

They let her in. The real estate sign outside says SOLD.

MITCH (V.O.)
Your mom just went inside.

INT. KLAYPOOL RESIDENCE, SILO ATTIC - DAY

Mitch stands at the window of the silo attic, watching Jill through the windows of Hell House with a pair of BINOCULARS. Dylan, who was pacing, rushes to his side.

DYLAN
What? Let me see.

MITCH
Hold on. I can read lips.

DYLAN
Let me see!

Mitch flicks her away.

MITCH
SHUSH.

Dylan crosses her arms. Restless and pensive, she considers the ceiling mural.

CANDICE (V.O.)
(echoed)
Not alone.

Dylan tenses, her eyes darting. She barely speaks a whisper.

DYLAN
Grandma?

MITCH
Your mom's talking to Chief Hodge.

Dylan's full focus returns to Mitch. Down at Hell House, Jill says "this would be a great place to set up," to Hodge.

MITCH
She says... This whip buried Priscilla Boot. Do we know anything about a Priscilla Boot?

Dylan facepalms.

JILL (V.O.)
We're... so glad you could join us for dinner, Mitch.

INT. KLAYPOOL RESIDENCE, KITCHEN - NIGHT

Mitch sits at the dinner table with Jill, Miguel, and Dylan, embodying Edward Scissorhands.

MITCH
Thank you for having me.

JILL
(to Miguel)
Dear, I was out visiting Ron next door and guess what! We're good to go with the podcast!

Dylan and Mitch perk up, locking eyes.

MIGUEL
Oh! Honey, that's amazing!

DYLAN
You're doing a podcast next door?

JILL
On Wednesday to promote my new book and I expect you to be there.

DYLAN
And this is the book that happen to
(MORE)

DYLAN (CONT'D)
be about-

JILL
Yes which is exactly why you need to be there. Mitch! You can come too if you'd like.

MITCH
Oh. Yeah!

When Jill and Miguel lower their heads to eat, Mitch tries to pantomime "we can ghost hunt during the podcast" to Dylan, but it just comes across as sexual. Mitch realizes, changing gestures. Dylan finally nods, still concerned.

They eat to the score of forks hitting plates. Mitch almost chokes on a spaghetti noodle. He coughs and coughs.

JILL
Oh my gosh. Are you all right?

Mitch nods, clearly not all right. He has a sip of water.

MITCH (weak)
Wrong pipe.

They give him an understanding nod. Silence resumes.

MITCH
What's it-

Spoken simultaneously with:

MIGUEL
So, Mitch-

MITCH
Sorry. You go ahead.

MIGUEL
Are you and Dylan dating now?

Dylan almost spits out her drink.

DYLAN
We're just friends.

MITCH
Dylan is way out of my league anyway so...

Dylan tenses, looking at him, then turns away fast.

JILL
You know...It's really interesting, Mitch because... Well, Dylan has a very strong distaste for anything scary or dark natured.

DYLAN
Mom...

JILL
What? I just find it fascinating how, despite that, the two of you have managed to become so close.

DYLAN
Mom!

MITCH
I guess it just goes to show that there's more to people than their appearance or job.

Jill fakes a smile.

MITCH
Plus, I uh, I know Dylan's not a fan. You should see her over at the graveyard. She stands so stiff that no ghost would want to come near.

JILL

Well... it's not as though the way she stands would make much of a difference.

MITCH

Why's that?

JILL

Because ghosts aren't real, of course.

DYLAN

That's not true.

JILL

Oh, Dylan. Give me a break.

MITCH

Really? You don't believe in them even a little?

JILL

In no capacity. I was a professor of neuroscience at the University of Chicago before our move. Paranormal experiences are very similar to the delusional insanity some people encounter during "religious experiences." It's... it's actually what the podcast is on.

DYLAN

Those people are neither delusional nor insane.

JILL

Dylan, I'm speaking. You should hear this. With schizophrenia affecting nearly one percent of the population, we have fifty-one million patients out there telling absurd ghost claims. Do I think those people don't see things? Do I think they don't feel things? Of course not, but that doesn't make their claims objectively real. They're sick is all. With proper treatment, even the worst of them may heal.
(MORE)

JILL (CONT'D)

DYLAN

Not being able to see something does not make it any less real... And who are you to decide what's real and what's fake? Have you ever seen bacteria? No, but you know it's real. Why is this any different?

JILL

I have under a microscope.

DYLAN

Ok. Well, there are tools to detect ghosts too.

JILL

It's a pseudoscience, Honey. Have you heard of Dr. Franklin Crowe?

DYLAN

Then what would it take?! No, seriously. What would it take for you to, just once, believe in something you didn't learn from a textbook? To listen to your heart, to your gut. To believe in people instead of prescribing them until they're just as numb as...

JILL

Honey. I know this is hard for you to understand when you still have so much to learn-

DYLAN

You've gotta be kidding me.

Dylan storms out of the house.

JILL
Dylan! Dylan Cassandra Klaypool!

Dylan slams the front door. Miguel grabs Jill's hand. Mitch almost smirks.

MITCH
(quietly)
We're all a little haunted, aren't we.

JILL
What did you just say?

MITCH
Nothing. Thank you for the lovely meal. I'll just-

MIGUEL
Yeah.

Mitch looks at Miguel, who gives him a sympathetic nod. Mitch leaves. Jill puts her hands in her head.

EXT. KLAYPOOL RESIDENCE, CHICAGO - NIGHT (FLASHBACK)

Jill walks into the night air, wrapping herself in the cardigan. It's unbearably quiet.

JILL
Nathan?

She steps forward and something CRINKLES: SALT.

Something SCURRIES along the side of the house. She grabs a gardening SHOVEL.

Jill walks down the steps of her front porch, shovel poised for defense. She approaches in a heavy breath, ready to defend herself from whatever is on the other side.

Jill spins, full of offense, only for her eyes to land on NATHAN KLAYPOOL. He's holding a huge CAN of salt, surrounding the house in a circle of it. He starts to HUM.

JILL Nathan?

NATHAN
Jill! Is Dylan all right?

JILL
Yes. Of course. What are you doing?

NATHAN
It's something in the... sodium chloride, you see. It'll rid us of all the evil spirits.

JILL
OK... Sweetheart? I'm going to need you to come back to bed now. Can you come back to bed with me?

She touches him gently and he flinches away.

NATHAN
I won't go to bed. No, no. I can't go to bed.

JILL
But why-

A FLUX RESPONSE DEVICE begins to blink.

NATHAN
Your mother gave this to me. A flux response device. It detects paranormal activity.

He looks around the woods as if he heard something.

JILL
You can't possibly believe a word out of my mother's mouth. Nathan.

Nathan shuts his eyes tightly, covering his ears in pain.

JILL Nathan!

NATHAN
It's haunted in there, Jill! Open your eyes. You think I'm just going to, to what, to sleep? While our little girl is-

JILL
Listen to me! Nothing is haunted!
We're all fine! Everything is fine!

Nathan laughs and then cries.

JILL Sweetheart...

NATHAN
We're all a little haunted. Aren't we.

Something SOUNDS from the bushes, they both turn their heads. It's YOUNG DYLAN (6), watching. She hurries into the bushes.

NATHAN
Dylan!

Nathan runs after her, followed closely by Jill. They gradually camouflage into the nighttime foliage-

EXT. KLAYPOOL RESIDENCE, BENCH - NIGHT

-blending into Mitch as he makes his way through the trees.

MITCH
Dylan! Dylan?

DYLAN (O.S.)
Over here.

Mitch looks behind bushes. Dylan is sitting fairylike on a bench. He climbs through and joins her.

MITCH
I'm sorry for infiltrating your hiding space.

DYLAN
It's one of many.

Dylan stares off.

MITCH
Are you OK? ...You remind me of the snow.

She looks at him cautiously. How so?

MITCH
You're cold, but it makes you lighter. Everything about you lands lighter and somehow, after a while, when it happens no one knows, everything's covered in you.

DYLAN
...Sounds dangerous.

MITCH
Ah. A little bit of heat and-

DYLAN
I melt.

They lock eyes. Tension!!!!

MITCH
Shit! Did I KISS you?

DYLAN
What?

MITCH
Back at Hell House! I kissed you, didn't I? Oh my...

He buries his face in his hands.

MITCH
What? Were you just not going to say anything?

DYLAN
I mean I was quite content with pretending it never happened so...

He laughs.

MITCH
Wait! That wasn't your first kiss, was it?

DYLAN
I mean... it, it was, but you know... eh.

MITCH
Dylan... Dylan!

He hugs her, pausing along the way to check her comfort.

MITCH
I apologize. You made it very clear you don't feel that way towards me and I should have been more considerate.

DYLAN
Oh that's, you know, it's, it's all right. Really.

MITCH
(joking)
You don't have feelings for me now, do you?

DYLAN
What... no.

Mitch stares at her, blank-faced. Intense. Dark. She tries to avoid the eye contact.

DYLAN
We can't only ghost hunt during the podcast. The spirit might be shy.
How are we gonna get into Hell House before Wednesday?

He grins.

INT. KLAYPOOL RESIDENCE, KITCHEN - NIGHT

The only sound is Dylan helping Jill do the dishes.

DYLAN
Thanks for making dinner, Mom. It was really good... Did you use rosemary on the salmon? I feel like I could taste rosemary.

Jill stops. She turns to Dylan, hand on her hip.

DYLAN
Can I go out tonight?

Jill shakes her head in disbelief, returns to cleaning.

DYLAN
I thought you'd be happy I'm
(MORE)

DYLAN (CONT'D)
finally making friends.

JILL
I am! I'm just...

DYLAN
What? What, is it Mitch? You're okay with Carrie, but not Mitch?

JILL
I'm only saying I know his type.
And I'm worried-

DYLAN
About what? That you'll accuse him of attacking me in the middle of the night because he reminds you of my dad?

Jill breaks a plate. She looks into the draining sink water.

JILL
Nathan Klaypool is the most horrible, sick human being I have ever had the displeasure of knowing. He may be your father, but he sure as hell is not your dad. Do you understand?

Dylan gives Jill a glare that could kill. Then, she calms.

DYLAN
I understand. May I please be excused?

JILL Sure.

Dylan goes upstairs with poise.

INT. KLAYPOOL RESIDENCE, DYLAN'S BEDROOM - NIGHT

With a strained composure, Dylan opens and closes her door... then gets to work in a RAGE. She stuffs things in her cross body bag: SAGE, CRYSTALS, a VIDEO CAM.

She zips up a BLACK HOODIE and clips the EVP RECORDER to her jeans, puts the earbuds in. She slips on a NEWSBOY HAT and tips the lid. Ready.

EXT. KLAYPOOL RESIDENCE - NIGHT

From outside, Mitch watches Dylan sneak out of her house. He notices something different about her energy. Vindictive.

DYLAN

What?

MITCH

(smirking)

Nothing.

EXT. BLACK WILLOW WOODS - NIGHT

Dylan and Mitch walk uphill through a layer of fog, Mitch trying to keep up with her newfound determination. He looks around, sensing something, and spots boot prints in the dirt.

MITCH

Someone was just here.

DYLAN

Mary's Bath is right behind us.
Tons of people were just here.

MITCH

But it's rained since then. These boot marks are fresh. Dylan.

He runs to catch up with her.

MITCH
Something doesn't feel right. I feel-

He catches up with her, coming face to face with Hell House.
It's boarded up with a large LOCK on the front door and a NO TRESPASSING sign.

MITCH
...unwelcomed.

DYLAN
Yeah?

Dylan searches the front yard until she finds a large rock.

MITCH
What are you doing?

DYLAN
Well I bet the ghost who lives here didn't appreciate the intrusion of those sorry asses who-

DYLAN (throwing)
-BOUGHT THIS PLACE.

MITCH
Dylan!

Dylan CHUCKS the rock at a window, SHATTERING IT.

INT. POLICE STATION - NIGHT

Cameras FLASH. Dylan looks terrified in her mugshot. Mitch is smiling from ear to ear in his.

INT. JILL'S CAR - NIGHT

Jill drives Dylan home in deafening silence.

DYLAN
Thanks for picking me up from jail.

INT. KLAYPOOL RESIDENCE, FOYER - NIGHT

Jill and Dylan enter the house, agonizingly quiet.

JILL
Is it sex?

DYLAN
Mom!

JILL
Drugs? A desire to feel more alive?

DYLAN
No! None of that.

JILL
What is it then? Tell me!

DYLAN
WE'RE GHOST HUNTING...

Jill looks like she's fighting back tears.

DYLAN
It's good for me to face my fears.
Don't you think that's true?

Jill looks at her. It is true.

DYLAN
If they are real, I want to... try and find grandma.

JILL
What? Oh, Dylan. We don't even know if she's dead.

DYLAN

And I hope she's not. But maybe one of the ghosts might know something about what happened. And, and think of it this way. If ghosts really are fake, I'll have no doubts about it by the time I finish all this hunting stuff. And, I don't know, maybe I'll be better because of it.

JILL

...No. I'm sorry, Dylan. I can't condone this. Not ghost hunting. Give me your phone.

Dylan coughs up her PHONE.

JILL

I can see how your social life here is expanding. So, while I am taking this phone from you for the time being, you are not grounded from going out. BUT! ...I never want to see you with Mitch again.

Dylan freezes. Jill gives her a hug, then heads upstairs.

JILL

It's true. He's too much like your father.

INT. KLAYPOOL RESIDENCE, DYLAN'S BEDROOM - NIGHT

A tearstained Dylan lays in bed.

MIGUEL (O.S.)

You didn't ground her?!

Dylan looks towards the noise.

INT. KLAYPOOL RESIDENCE, JILL'S ROOM - NIGHT (CONTINUOUS)

Jill shushes Miguel, gesturing towards Dylan's bedroom.

MIGUEL

(quieter)

The girl was arrested. She broke into my boss's house!

JILL

And I'm taking care of it.

MIGUEL

I could get fired for this.

JILL

But you won't. In fact, thank goodness you're friends with Ronald because Dylan wouldn't have gotten off half as easy otherwise.

MIGUEL

That didn't prevent the $10,000 bail.

JILL

She got off on a bond.

MIGUEL

And when she's found guilty?

JILL

You and I both know she'll get community service at worst.

MIGUEL

With the boy, no doubt. The one you forbade her from seeing after I specifically said-

JILL

I had no choice! Am I really expected to allow that boy back into my house-

MIGUEL

Our house.

JILL

Of course.

MIGUEL

No. Not of course. I'm hearing a lot of me, my, and I in this conversation, but I have been that little girl's dad for ten years now and I get to make decisions too!

JILL

Fine! You're failing! Happy now?! ...I'm sorry. You're right.

MIGUEL

Thank you. And we don't have to ground her. Just... make her get a job until what the bail would have been is paid off. As a lesson.

JILL

A job where?

INT. KLAYPOOL RESIDENCE, HALLWAY - NIGHT (CONTINUOUS)

Dylan leans on Jill's bedroom door, listening. Where?!

EXT. POLICE STATION - DAY

A "VOTE MORGAN HALL FOR MAYOR... AGAIN!" sign wobbles as a car speeds past the police station.

DYLAN (V.O.)

I'm really sorry, Chief Hodge.

INT. POLICE STATION, HODGE'S OFFICE - DAY

Dylan and Miguel stand before the desk of Ronald Hodge.

DYLAN

Thank you for letting me work here.

HODGE

Don't worry a thing, Darling.
Window was already gonna go so you saved a step far as I'm concerned.
Bail'll be paid off in no time.

MIGUEL

They were ghost hunting. Can you believe that?

HODGE

You don't say. Well hey maybe I'll hire you down the line if I feel anything off in there. You know, I got a step-daughter Dylan's age.
Two of us are aboutta grab a bite.
What do you say we make it four?

INT. DINER - DAY

Dylan squirts ketchup onto her burger. While taking a bite, she clocks the restaurant's public phone.

Hodge and Miguel's attention shifts. Entering the diner is... LEXIE WILSON.

HODGE

Well hello, Sweet Pea. Aren't we glad you could make it. This here's Dylan, the one I told you about.

LEXIE

(looking at Dylan)
We've met.

Dylan gulps.

INT. VERLICE RESIDENCE, LIVING ROOM - DAY

Abiezer sits on his rocking chair with a book, sipping tea.
Mitch is beside him, also reading. He puts the book down.

MITCH
Abi. Abi, are you really not gonna ground me?

ABIEZER
Hm?

MITCH
For getting arrested?

Abi shrugs.

ABIEZER
Do you want to be grounded?

The house phone rings.

MITCH
I'll get it.

Mitch springs up and grabs the phone.

MITCH
Verlice residence and Black Willow boneyard. Mitch speaking.

INT. DINER, HOSTESS AREA - DAY

Dylan cowers beside the restaurant phone, keeping an eye out.

DYLAN
It's me. How are things over there?

MITCH
Oh, you know...

INT. VERLICE RESIDENCE, LIVING ROOM - DAY

Abiezer turns a page in his book and gets a paper cut. He flicks his hand and kisses it.

MITCH
Real rough.

ABIEZER
That Dylan?

MITCH
Yes.

ABIEZER
Tell her I say hello.

INT. DINER, HOSTESS AREA - DAY

Dylan rolls her eyes.

MITCH
Abi says hello. How are you?

DYLAN
Well I'm not grounded, but my phone was taken for approximately forever and I'm especially forbidden from seeing you, which is a ruling we'll have to overturn if we're to ghost hunt during my mom's podcast.

MITCH
Yes, Ma'am. What's the plan?

INT. HALL RESIDENCE, SAWYER'S BEDROOM - DAY

- Dark brown-black hair dye plops into a bowl. Sawyer dawns gloves. Slaps a glob of it onto Mitch's hair.

- Mitch's Spider earrings clink into a bowl.

- Mitch, hair dye still in and styled as a mohawk, has an apple in his mouth as he ices Sawyer's ear.

MITCH
You ready?

Mitch raises the needle.

INT. HALL RESIDENCE, PARKER'S ROOM - DAY

Parker is lifting weights.

SAWYER (O.S.)
SHIT!!!!

He drops them and they hit his foot. He hops around in pain.

INT. HALL RESIDENCE, SAWYER'S BEDROOM - DAY

Parker barges into Sawyer's room.

PARKER
DUDE! SO YOU MIND-

Mitch and Sawyer are on the bed, doing each other's nails.
...Parker closes the door slowly.

SAWYER
I'll hear about that later.

MITCH Why?

He gives Mitch a look, then continues removing his nail polish. Mitch raises both eyebrows.

MITCH
Band PR. That plus your new look and we are golden.

They paint each other's nails in intervals, Sawyer cleaning one of Mitch's nails then Mitch painting one of Sawyer's.

SAWYER
Why am I dulling you down then?

MITCH
So Dylan's mom will like me.

SAWYER
Are you and Dylan, like, a thing now?

MITCH
Nah. Nah. Oh! I kissed her though!

SAWYER
What?!

MITCH
(nodding)
On accident. Eh. Kind of. But I don't think I'm her type.

Mitch looks at his bare nails, considering.

SAWYER
Do you like her, or?

MITCH
...Maybe I would. If we met at another time.

Sawyer nods, thinking. Mitch lifts Sawyer's painted hand.

MITCH
You ready to switch fits?

EXT. HELL HOUSE - DAY

A black car pulls up, the back door opens. A cane pops out, followed by feet and scruffy fingers. The fingers pick up a pinch of dirt, testing the texture. They raise to reveal the face of DR. FRANKLIN CROWE (70s). He eats the dirt.

Jill spots him and abandons the GUESTS she was greeting.

JILL
Dr. Franklin Crowe! What an honor-are you eating the dirt?

Crowe looks at Jill and HUFFS.

CROWE
Heavy quartz... low sodium.

JILL
You are brilliant.

CROWE
Much obliged. Thank you a lot.

JILL
May I just say, I read your paper on disproving the window woman case in Salem and I was just blown away.

CROWE
I appreciate it. Good luck today.

JILL
You know, I was wondering if you could have a word with my daughter?
She's been, um, ghost hunting if you can even believe it and-

CROWE
That's nice. I ghost hunt for a living. Ghost hunting, good.

JILL
Yes, but, but it's not for the sake of disproving them. You see, and-

Crowe taps Jill on the shoulder and walks inside, past a sign with Jill's face on it that reads "NEUROSCIENTIST DR. JILL RODRIGUEZ ON THE HAUNTING SYMPTOMS OF SCHIZOPHRENIA PODCAST."

CROWE
We'll see. Yes?

He gives a thumbs up and a massive smile. Jill nods, smile cracking.

EXT. HELL HOUSE - DAY

A well dressed young man walks towards Dylan through a crowd of strangers greeting one another. Charlotte, Hodge, and Miguel all side hug him. Miguel does a double take.

EXT. HELL HOUSE, SNACK TABLE - DAY

Dylan's at the snack table, acting like she's preoccupied with indecision to avoid all the intellects. This young man comes up from behind her with a little wave.

MITCH
Dylan, is it? Dylan Klaypool?

Mouth half full, Dylan turns respectfully before her eyes bulge. This man is Mitch. He's just...normal. Black hair, no makeup, no piercings, no nail polish. Tattoos covered.

MITCH
Well, what do you think?! ...It kinda sucks, right? It sucks. Be honest.

DYLAN
No, no! It doesn't suck, but...

MITCH
What?

DYLAN

It's just making me realize I've never really seen your face until now. You have wrinkles around your eyes like a little old man.

Mitch smiles, causing his eyes to crinkle.

DYLAN

Ah. That's why.

They stare at each other for a moment.

DYLAN

You're handsome.

A beat because Mitch felt his heart fall into stomach acid.

DYLAN

What? No joke?

MITCH

Would you still have rejected me if I looked like this when we met?

Dylan BLINKS, taken aback. Jill comes up to them.

JILL

Hello, Dylan. I see you've made a-

She notices Mitch.

JILL

Friend?

Dylan and Mitch smile at her with nervous hope: here we go.

INT. HELL HOUSE, HALLWAY - DUSK

Jill drags Mitch to a hidden corner, away from her guests.

JILL
What exactly do you think you're doing here?

MITCH
You invited me.

Jill can't believe this.

MITCH
...I want to apologize for putting Dylan in a dangerous, uncomfortable situation and for any influence
I've had over her that contradicted your remarkable parenting.

JILL
Oh really? My remarkable parenting?

It's chaos around them. A WAITER comes up to Jill and whispers in her ear.

JILL
Well what's wrong with the mummies in a blanket?

MITCH Mummies in a blanket. Ha! That's brilliant. No wonder you have a PHD, Mrs. Kl... odriguez.

JILL
(to the waiter)
Can't this wait?

Charlotte rushes in from the living room.

CHARLOTTE
Jill! Projectors down with fifteen minutes to show.

Jill stresses, looks at Mitch.

JILL
You? Just... stay in shadow.

She goes. Mitch walks out of the hallway and into the...

INT. HELL HOUSE, LIVING ROOM - NIGHT

The decor is a blend of spooky and elegant. A row of chairs faces a microphone stand and a backdrop where Jill will soon speak before a crowd.

Mitch runs into CARRIE LANDRY.

CARRIE
You went missing.

MITCH
False alarm.

CARRIE
They said you killed yourself.

MITCH
Don't really see a point in that for someone who believes in the afterlife so...

They lock eyes, both thinking about the same unspoken story.

MITCH
I'd never.

CARRIE
You promise?

MITCH
...I promise.

Carrie holds out her pinkie. Mitch clutches it with his and seals it with a kiss. Carrie wipes her eyes.

CARRIE
Good. Now... what the fuck have you done to yourself?

She shakes a hand through his hair.

MITCH
What? This is the real me.

CARRIE
No... Blue hair is the real you.

MITCH
Blue?

Another long look.

MITCH
Where's your new boyfriend?

INT. HELL HOUSE, FOYER - NIGHT

The doors of Hell House open wide and the outside crowd bursts in, led by Parker Hall and Lexie Wilson.

PARKER
HELLOOO, GHOSTS, WHAT THE FUCK IS GOOD?

INT. HELL HOUSE, LIVING ROOM - NIGHT (CONTINUOUS)

Mitch watches Carrie close her eyes in annoyance as Parker and Lexie come in from around the corner.

LEXIE (O.S.)
(laughing)
Parker, stop!

PARKER
(to Carrie)
Hey, hot thing.

Carrie makes a jumping motion as though Parker grabbed her ass. He kisses her, but she pulls away. Her eyes shyly land on Mitch, which is not lost on Parker.

CARRIE
Let's find a seat, OK?

PARKER (O.S.)
A seat? I thought we were just gonna find a room.

As Carrie and Parker leave, Dylan is revealed. She gives Mitch an inquisitive look. Warmth seems to rush over him.

MITCH
You made it in.

DYLAN
All by my self. That's two for two this week. Two for two and a half.

He takes her hand softly, leading the way upstairs past a door not enter SIGN. Dr. Franklin Crowe catches sight of this and SNICKERS.

INT. HELL HOUSE, UPSTAIRS HALLWAY - NIGHT

Dylan and Mitch arrive upstairs, only lit by runaway lights.

DYLAN
We have an hour.

They hear footsteps and dive into a corner, close together. Mitch looks Dylan up and down jokingly. She pushes his face and tries to catch sight of the person.

It's Lexie. She sends a text before ducking into a bedroom.

They emerge and take the next turn, coming face-to-face with the ominous door at the end of a long hallway.

MITCH Classic.

The lights below dim and the applause of Jill's crowd fills the house. Mitch walks forward before realizing Dylan hasn't moved. She's performing some sort of inner ritual.

MITCH
(hushed tones)
DYLAN!

Eyes still closed, she raises her hand to shut him up.

DYLAN
I'm preparing.

ANNOUNCER (O.S.)
All right. All right. Thank you.
Let's all collect ourselves.

Soft footsteps from the stairs, followed by shadow. Mitch PICKS Dylan up and RUNS into the nearest room.

INT. HELL HOUSE, SANDRA'S ROOM - NIGHT

Mitch, Dylan draped over his shoulder, shuts the door. They look around to see the 1980s time capsule they're standing in. A teenage girl's bedroom overcome with dust and cobwebs.

DYLAN
I don't like it in here.

MITCH
Well it is haunted, Dylan. Which is kind of what we're looking for.

Mitch reaches into his bag. He extends the Mel-Meter's antenna and powers it up.

DYLAN
It's more than that.

MITCH
Thirty-one point eight degrees.

Chills run through Dylan. She clutches her necklace.

DYLAN
Mitch.

Mitch nods as in yeah no I totally hear you.

MITCH
What's up, Spirit? My name is Mitch. Is there anything you'd like to share?

Dylan spots a photo of a well-dressed family: two parents and a young girl. The frame says SANDRA.

DYLAN
Sandra...

The temperature readout instantly drops to 21.3 DEGREES.

MITCH
Whoa. Dylan... Dylan, what did you say just now?

DYLAN
Sandra?

The temperature drops again: 19.8 degree.

MITCH
Holy shit. Say something else.

Dylan shakes her head.

MITCH
Do you want to prove ghosts exist or not?!

INT. HELL HOUSE, LIVING ROOM - NIGHT

Jill speaks into a microphone before the eager crowd.

JILL
That's a great question. Truly. It gets to the heart of what I do.

She glances over the crowd.

JILL
Let me make one thing clear-- disproving the existence of ghosts is only a byproduct of this study.
Really, our work is about something much bigger.

INT. HELL HOUSE, SANDRA'S ROOM - NIGHT

Back in the bedroom, Dylan gives in.

DYLAN
...We know you're innocent.

The Mel-meter lights up and SQUEALS. Mitch, at first elated, realizes their predicament.

MITCH
SHIT. The podcast!

DYLAN
Turn it off! Why won't it turn off?!

MITCH
Something's jammed!

DYLAN
Well, don't hit it!

INT. HELL HOUSE, LIVING ROOM - NIGHT

Miguel stiffens at the sound.

JILL Places like this aren't haunted by spirits, but by us. Our fears, our stories, our-

Miguel comes onstage, whispers in Jill's ear. The audience looks around, confused. Dr. Crowe raises an eyebrow, eyes on the stairs. Jill inaudibly responds to Miguel, who nods.

INT. HELL HOUSE, SANDRA'S ROOM - NIGHT

Mitch tosses Dylan the Mel-Meter like it's a hot potato.

MITCH
You try!

DYLAN
Get that thing away from me!

She tosses it back. He tosses it back.

MITCH
Don't be a baby!

DYLAN
(gasps)
How dare you?

MITCH
DYLAN!

Dylan lifts a pillow to hide the Mel-meter and a cloud rises. She sees a swarm of cockroaches under the pillow and SQUEALS, tossing the Mel-Meter. Mitch covers her mouth.

Miguel's footsteps approach from outside the room. They watch his shadow grow longer beneath the door. Mitch motions to the closet and removes his hand. Dylan nods. When Mitch opens the closet, Dylan takes a step back.

DYLAN
No. No, Mitch.

The bedroom knob turns slowly. Mitch tries to pull Dylan in, but she yanks her hand back with a furious look in the eyes.

CUT TO:

INT. HELL HOUSE, TEEN GIRL'S BEDROOM - NIGHT (MOMENTS LATER)

Miguel opens the door, trying to keep quiet. He looks around, spotting something that shocks him...

It's the Mel-Meter. He analyzes it with curiosity and gazes around for clues. His eyes land on the closet door. Miguel creeps towards it ever so slowly... he opens it.

Nothing. It's entirely empty. Just some old clothes.

INT. HELL HOUSE, ANOTHER HALLWAY - NIGHT

Pitch black. A small space.

DYLAN
Light please. Quickly.

MITCH
My phone's out of battery.

DYLAN
You smoke, don't you?

MITCH
Someone's testy.

Mitch flicks on his lighter that says "wink when you pass this back if you want to bang" and the flame illuminates

Dylan's tested expression.

DYLAN Subtle.

Mitch grins.

MITCH
And effective.

He takes the lead, shedding a light on a small and cobwebbed corridor.

MITCH
What is this, the house's spleen?

DYLAN
I felt it... behind the vanity. A hollow in the wind.

Mitch turns to Dylan, looking at her differently. She stops.

DYLAN
Something's coming... where's the Mel-Meter?

Mitch gives Dylan a screwed look. Dylan takes a deep breath. Eyes shut, she suddenly grabs for her chest.

MITCH
Dylan?! Dylan, say something!

The flame flickers with gusts of wind. Mitch grabs Dylan's hand. Her eyes shoot open with a gasp.

DYLAN
I heard blood. I feel an evil, but the energy to it, it's different.
They're telling me... to run.

MITCH ...THEY'RE?!

The flame goes out, leaving them in the dark. Downstairs, the audience starts screaming in terror.

MITCH
What the hell is happening?!

DYLAN
I told you!

Dylan and Mitch break through a small door and tumble over one another into...

INT. HELL HOUSE, MASTER BEDROOM - NIGHT (CONTINUOUS)

The master bedroom of Hell House. To her and Mitch's absolute horror, blood is running down the walls.

DYLAN Blood.

They hear a scream inside their same room and look over to find Lexie Wilson, holding covers over her bare body. She is followed by none other than Parker Hall. He sees the blood.

PARKER
WHAT THE FUC-

END OF EPISODE